9 million bags of Fukushima cleanup material confirm my Yakuza mafia report (as well as the original Fukushima report) was BANG ON.

These black bags, 9 million of them in total (and counting, this is an ongoing project) now hold the guts of reactor 3. As I reported over a year ago in my Yakuza mafia report, over 800 of Japan's homeless (at that time,) had already died from the radiation, with their deaths buried in Japan's homeless stats.

Reactor 3 was provably blown out of it's containment with a gun type nuclear weapon disguised as a giant thousand pound "security camera" placed under reactor 3 by Israeli security firm Magna BSP. this is covered in detail in the Fukushima report, linked above

How bad was Fukushima blown away? So bad that an entire section of Japan had to have the first three inches of top soil stripped from the ground by workers, countless numbers of which have died, and these people who have died were Japan's homeless, who were pulled from the streets by the Israeli controlled Yakuza mafia and forced to work until the radiation killed them.

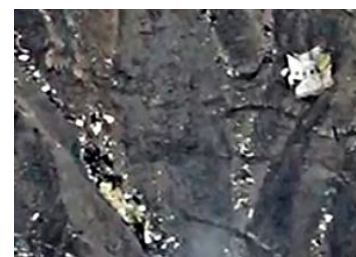

Unlike the heroic pilots who died in Russia with honors after putting Chernobyl out, Japan's dead will be buried in the homeless stats.

Obviously such a story would eventually have proof evident everywhere, despite efforts to contain it. Well, to blow the lid off and prove that countless workers really have been stripping the top three inches of soil off of a large section of Japan all you now have to do is google "black bags fukushima" and images of these cleanup bags will now be prominent. I guess they figured the topic had cooled off enough to let this level of truth out.

All the stories about seepage into the pacific are straw man reports that are out there to hide the bigger reality - millions of times as much radiation is getting into the Pacific via rainwater runoff from all over Eastern Japan, where reactor 3 is now laid out like pepper.

The original
Yakuza mafia
Fukushima
cleanup report
now follows:

Tepco said right from the beginning that the radiation from Fukushima was "Immeasurable" and released numbers as high as 800 sieverts per hour on the Fukushima grounds, OUTSIDE. They had to get control with remote control and robots, to get the instantly lethal areas tamed down. Then people went in, worked a couple hours, and died. This is all covered in the Fukushima report, linked above.

Why would Japan do this if the Fukushima report was not absolutely real? I got ripped for my Yakuza mafia report because there was no "hard proof". It is now confirmed accurate, these bags are proof.

BOMBSHELL! ISRAELI MAFIA RUNNING FUKUSHIMA CLEANUP

NEW BOMBSHELL: JAPAN LIMITING ISRAELI VISAS TO KEEP ISRAELI MAFIA OUT . . . Israeli travelers now using fake passports from other countries to enter Japan.

I know the above headline sounds too incredible to be true, but it is definitely true. Organized crime is usually tied to intelligence agencies at the top, and it is the Israeli Mossad, the same group that fronted Magna BSP, that is now handling Fukushima "cleanup" via control of Japan's Yakuza mafia. The Yakuza and the Israeli mafia formed an alliance with each other in 1990. Take a look at what is here, it may sound too "out there" to be true, but it definitely is true.

All of what is spoken of on this page is now properly referenced.

UPDATE: CONFIRMED BY REUTERS - over 50,000 people now doing cleanup of radioactive debris from reactor 3. FINALLY the real numbers. Unconfirmed blogs say medical professionals have recorded over 800 radiation deaths of cleanup workers and have been told to keep their mouths shut under heavy threat in the name of "national security". THAT MAKES SENSE.

Updated Dec 14 2015

For now, there are an officially claimed 5,000 workers doing fukushima cleanup, at least that is the number the ziopress is willing to admit to. I guess they think that is a believable number that people can cope with. But there is a huge problem with this number. And that is - Over 700 different registered companies and at least 50 unregistered companies are involved in cleanup of radioactive debris left in the wake of the reactor 3 explosion.

Virtually ALL of these companies are Yakuza mafia run. And if over 700 of these companies add up to 5,000 people, it means that only seven people per company are working Fukushima cleanup. That is not a believable number. It is my guess that the real number is between 50,000 and 100,000 people are working on Fukushima cleanup, numbers so high that they would result in hard questions being asked by the greater nuclear community and that is why the real numbers are being kept silent.

The official story right from the beginning is that the explosions were hydrogen gas explosions which would be harmless and incapable of spreading a lot of radioactive material. That is the only thing that can match a realistic scenario for boiling water reactors. You cannot, with such a reactor, get expulsion of hard material up into the atmosphere. Due to the inherent nature of the system, the only disaster scenario that can happen is melt downs and not explosions and expulsions of reactor cores. And since having huge amounts of radioactive debris spread over miles cannot in any non warfare, HARDWARE ONLY related situation happen, it is the job of the scamming ziopress and fake alternative press to hide the reality that this indeed happened, a reality which resulted in the need for an epic cleanup effort.

Reactor 3 never melted down before the explosion. It was destroyed by a nuclear weapon while still fully functional. This is the only thing that matches the scenario for what actually happened.

What proves this to be the case? It is the large amount of dust from the reactor core, dust which is now being cleaned up by thousands of admitted to, and probably upwards of a hundred thousand people. Reactor fuel pellets in a boiling water reactor are composed of uranium oxide dust which has a zircon cladding around the dust to keep it in pellet form. If the reactors had melted down before the explosions, there would have been no dust, the fuel would instead have been in the form of a liquid that would not have spread so readily and floated on the wind.

Furthermore, it took an extreme kinetic event to pulverize the fuel pellets and send the uranium oxide dust inside them skyward. To do this, first the explosion had to penetrate a final thick concrete shield immediately surrounding the reactor that is inside the inner containment. It then had to completely blow away the reactor pressure vessel, which is several inches of solid steel thick. After that, it then had to blow apart the core, to get to the fuel pellets, and THEN have enough energy left in the shock wave to pulverize the fuel pellets and send them skyward in the form of dust. There is no conventional weapon on earth that could do that, only a nuclear weapon could, and the proof that this event did indeed happen via a beyond conventional explosion is the fact that much of Japan is now completely covered in this dust. Neither the hardware of the reactor itself or conventional weaponry could create such a scenario.

And the bigger point is that if the reactors had only melted down, there would be no cleanup needed outside of the power facility. Yet melt downs are the only scenario the laws of physics support with the given materials and hardware absent a nuclear weapon blast, so melt downs are what scam sites like ENE news and others are pushing with regard to the dead starfish. And melt downs and open air gas explosions would never have destroyed or breached the inner containments, only explosives would, so why are these containments now leaking?

The key to keeping the lid on all of this now is silence from the workers

And that is precisely why they are being given death threats for speaking up about what is really going on with all of this. Obviously after the explosions, whatever was left of the reactors melted completely down. But at the time of the explosions there could not possibly have been melted reactor cores, the hard material now being cleaned up over 20 km away could not have come from that scenario.

The Japanese Mafia, which is under Jewish control at the top, is handling the cleanup

Make sure you scroll FAR down this page to the links that prove the Israelis are in full control of Yakuza, this particular report is huge

And HOW IN THE HELL DID THE ISRAELI CONTROLLED YAKUZA MAFIA GET THIS JOB? I will tell you how - If you want to cover up a crime scene, have criminal organizations in charge of the cover up. People are dying left and right out at Fukushima because there is so much nuclear material laying around in the open compliments of reactor 3's core ejection. Since we have a scenario that could not have happened absent an act of war, criminals have to handle it if it is to remain a suitable secret. If anyone speaks up, BOOM, they are dead. If anyone steps out of line, a bullet to the head. And Tepco could not possibly get away with this, they are not the ones in charge of it. All this criminal activity is taking place under the radar, via mafia controlled subcontractors with Jewish overlords at the top.

Japan is absolutely screwed

The contamination ended up being exactly what I said it would be from the beginning. But I was wrong about something - and that is that rather than abandon land, the Japanese are actually going to clean it up. This will involve the removal of all vegetation from thousands of square kilometers of land, and the top five centimeters of soil from all of that land. The cleanup does not only involve the exclusion zone, it extends all of the way through Sendai.

And the big question is, WHY is this only coming to light NOW? I will tell you exactly why. It took this long for the public to mostly forget that officially, the Fukushima disaster was only a little steam and a little loose gas. And Tepco could not and did not front a lie like that, the lie HAD TO come straight from the ziopress. Tepco initially stated that the radiation released was, in their own words "immeasurable" but the ziopress and nuclear blackmail silenced them within two days of them saying it. Now, over two years later, the public conscience is sleeping on the topic and it is FINALLY safe for the ziopress to tell pieces of the truth, first starting with obscure news outlets such as AlJazeera because with an event that far back in the past people won't care about the details and Tepco has been successfully blackballed.

They now have to begin telling at least pieces of the truth, because the scenario on the ground has become too obvious for the official lie to cover up. They are obviously calculating what information to release at what time to avoid having too many lights go on all at once.

The least influential people in Japan are doing the cleanup

The mafia contractors are taking the drug addicts, homeless, and other extremely disadvantaged and unsophisticated people and using them exclusively for the cleanup, especially at Fukushima proper. They are not having geniuses go in there. And there are reasons for this - this low economic class will produce the fewest complaints after being destroyed by the radiation, and this particular class of people will mostly lack the ability to question what is going on and what really happened to those reactors. It is also because These people are largely isolated and disposable, and few people, if any at all will notice if they die. The fact that death threats are being issued at all, the fact that the Mafia is involved with this at all should say it all.

In order to cover up a war crime this big, a police state style management had to happen to keep the people silent, which Japan does not have via the government. The mafia had to be brought in, and you can't tell me the Japanese government is unaware. The Japanese government would not permit the cleanup via the mafia to happen as it is happening, but they are allowing it to proceed the way it is because they are under threat, which is:

In Magna BSP's own words, with only 12 employees, IDF front company Magna BSP is handling the security for ALL of Japan's reactors. Magna has to be an IDF/Mossad front company, because 12 people could not possibly either protect or threaten that many reactors. 12 claimed employees means it can only be a mafia style protection racket that is "protecting" Japan's reactors, a "protection" racket which is run by the top criminals in the highest political places outside of Japan - and if Japan steps out of line, Stuxnet and more nukes go hot and it is BOOM to more reactors.

YOU GOT THAT RIGHT. VIA CONTROL OVER THE LOCAL YAKUZA MAFIA THE ISRAELI MAFIA IS RUNNING A MAJORITY OF THE SUBCONTRACTORS THAT ARE HIRING PEOPLE TO WORK FUKUSHIMA, AND I HAVE PROOF. I MANAGED TO DIG WELL ENOUGH AND HAVE CONFIRMED - THE HEAVILY ISRAELI MOSSAD INFLUENCED ISRAELI MAFIA IS RUNNING MOST OF THE SUBCONTRACTING FIRMS HANDLING FUKUSHIMA CLEANUP VIA CONTROL OF LOCAL JAPANESE YAKUZA MAFIA GROUPS. WITH THE ISRAELI MAFIA ALSO RUNNING THE GLOBAL SEX SLAVE TRADE, THEY ARE VERY ADEPT AT KEEPING BIG SECRETS HIDDEN. Now we know why at least one worker received death threats for speaking up about what is really going on out there.

Working in Tokyo for the Israeli Mafia

This is the account of a witness to the Israeli mafia in Japan. It is indeed there and in control of the Yakuza

Note - I lived in Japan for almost a decade. The Israelis have had a strong presence there for at least 2 decades. On the cover of the Japan Times, circa 1990, there was a small article stating that the Israeli Mafia and the Japanese Mafia had formed a pact.

I knew an Iranian who sold drugs for the Japanese mob (Yakuza). He said some Iranian Jews he knew were selling jewelry in Tokyo and making $2000 a day - in actuality, they were selling hash and meth to the Japanese. Some (not all) of these Israeli street hawkers are really in the drug trade. More than a few of them get jobs in Tokyo through connections in Bangkok at Israeli run guest houses, like the ones on Khao San Road.

There are better ways to make a living.

It's said that a fool and his money are soon parted. And that's exactly why there are so many Israelis selling jewelry on the streets of Japan and they are making it even easier. But the good news for the traveller in search of a buck is that you don't have to be Israeli to hawk fake Rolexes and silver rings to the Japanese. I did it and I am as uncircumcised as the next guy.

The boss once asked me: tom, are you Jewish?"

"no"

"well, nobody's perfect"

Yes, you will be working for the Israeli mafia and they'll suck all the work they can out of you. They're lying, corrupt sleazebags but at least you won't have to kow-tow to some nerdy Japanese boss. The Israelis have all the pitches on the streets sewn up these days so there's no choice but to work for them. At least you don't have to bring any stock yourself and they take care of all the practical stuff for you. All you've got to do is sell.

The set-up is like this: You get yourself to Japan and the Israelis will find some cheap accommodation for you. If you're hard up they might even lend you a bit of money for the first week or two. Then after a few days of hanging around the stalls of the other sellers, learning the tricks of hard sell and some basic Japanese, you'll be given a pitch of your own. You'll be driven to work every day and set up four boards of jewelry and one table for the fake watches. For every item there is a minimum price, but you get 40% of the gross so you sell them for whatever you can get away with.

And then you're on your own. For the next 10 hours you do your best to lie, flirt, bully and manipulate by any means possible anyone and everyone who passes by into buying something. "Please, sir! Come and look at my shop! Looking is free only! I make you good price! Buy something for your girlfriend!" Sound familiar? Yes, you have to become just like all those merchants and hawkers who drove you crazy all across Asia. Believe me, you'll feel more sympathy for them in the future.

You'll fleece drunken salary men returning from a night out at a blowjob bar, bimbos looking for a new Gucci accessory, and naive teenagers who want to buy their first Rolex. And if you can't agree about the price? Well, this is a society of Samurai, after all. Looking some defiant student in the eye, I'd draw back my shoulders and say:

"Are you a man?"

"Yes, of course!"

"Then let's play junken!"

Also known as scissors, paper, and stone, this ancient game is sacred and few lacked the honour to pay your asking price if they lost.

But whatever you do, don't convert the prices into dollars in your head because you'll die laughing. You can sell pieces of purple string to put around the wrist for $15. It all depends on your confidence. Once, my friend told me, our boss was hanging around his stall and he set down on the table some lighter that he'd bought at 7-11 for two dollars. Some drunken businessman came along and fell in love with the thing. He was talked into buying it for $100.

Of course, the business is not exactly legal. I was working on a busy shopping street over Christmas, and in 10 days the police closed me down 35 times. They'd march up to my stall and shout angrily in Japanese I would pretend not to understand. They'd make me sign some form in Japanese, then I'd turn off the lights and look sorry. When they were out of sight, I'd open up again. They couldn't believe I kept coming back.

"He's a real tough cookie, this one," they must have mumbled.

And if it wasn't the boys in blue wearing me down with their clipboard and forms, it was the Yakuza. They're paid off by the Israelis of course, but there's always some drunk criminal who wants to scare a gaijin (any foreigner.) Usually it was just some young, Mafia wannabe punk out to prove himself, but once I was fooling around with some pissed old guy who came to me on a quiet night.

"I am businessman!" He told me and held up his left hand with the missing little finger. When the Yakuza fuck up, honour demands that they cut off one of their finger segments to atone. As a guitarist, it was a horrific sight. All I could say was: "Yes, sir! No, sir! How many bags full, sir?"

On a good day, selling silver in Tokyo was like stealing food from a paraplegic, and I couldn't believe how a nation of such hopeless suckers ever got so rich in the first place. On the bad days, though, when rain came with the cold and random street aggravation, I hated the work as much as my own corrupted soul for sinking so low as to take such a job.

Still, I was lucky. Over three months I managed to save about US$3,000, but others I met only managed to cover their costs. This is definitely a job best suited to pretty girls and good liars

These are good:

These collectively show that there is a very strong presense of the Israeli mafia operating in Japan, and as far back as 1990 the Israeli mafia had united with Yakuza. Given the skills of the Jews in taking over everything, simple logic would dictate that 25 years later, and current Japanese restrictions on Israeli passport visas for the sole purpose of keeping the Israeli mafia out, that Israel now owns Yakuza. If Yakuza and other mafia (Israeli) are providing a majority of the workers for Fukushima cleanup, it then follows simple logic to conclude that the orders for silence (or face death) threats given to workers have their origins in Israel, which is a nation in deep militarily strategic need of the best cover up possible.

Here is the Japanese reality about Fukushima

Radiation in Japan much higher than stated in the MSM, workers likely issued death threats by Israeli Mossad front companies

This is to once again re-state that Northern Japan is basically ruined and the hype about radioactive water leaking into the ocean is practically meaningless when put in contrast with the massive shot of radiation the Pacific got from the explosion at reactor 3.

I am not going to be like CNN and Fox, sitting around saying only a little steam got out, nor am I going to say that the Pacific is dying because of Fukushima. This is mostly because all the anomalies in the Pacific are simultaneously occurring in the Atlantic. The starfish issue is not related to Fukushima, something else is amiss. For something that is actually true about Fukushima and damn spooky, Click here, and remember, the readings of 1,000 times over normal are OUTSIDE THE DECLARED DANGER ZONE just like I said it would be. Crazy stuff indeed. Watch for ENE to parrot this.

Obviously, since the reactors used uranium with a half life of many millions of years, and Plutonium, with a half life of thousands of years, and this stuff is dispersed evenly over a large area, there will be no practical way to clean any of this up. If you bury it, erosion will eventually expose it, and how can you scrape up the surface of every mountain, valley, field, or other terrain features and dispose of the entire top layer of the earth? That cannot happen, Japan really is screwed.

On the other side of the issue however is the Pacific. Ordinary people are going out with their own geiger counters and finding nothing wrong. No damning radiation stats are forthcoming from the starfish crowd. Oceanographers are calling it a massive viral outbreak involving both the Pacific and the Atlantic. And I therefore believe there is a huge effort underway by usurpers of the truth movement to get people all scared over Fukushima, never tell them Israel did it, blame Tepco and the nuclear industry, and side track the truth movement AWAY from the real issues, such as Stuxnet at home, tainted vaccines, the encroaching police state, the Obama care disaster (and NO, you CANNOT opt out so I did not link that crap) and many other issues we should all be focused on.

The big dirty at Fukushima already happened, and it happened when reactor 3 had its guts blown into the Pacific compliments of Magna BSP and the IDF. If there is a radiation problem in the Pacific right now which I seriously doubt, it came from the big blast and not from a little ground water seeping in from the shoreline. It came from the big blast, which was carried by the wind into the ocean. This horrible contamination in Japan is the result of whatever dust was laying around after the big blast in the immediate vicinity of reactor 3 and then subsequently carried abroad. Had the wind currents been different and had the entire core been dispersed over land and not the ocean immediately following the blast, it would have literally cut Japan in half.

There is no doubt a lot got dumped into the Pacific, enough to make the water beneath the initial dust trail from reactor 3 240 times the safe limit within 10 miles of the coast. That has since dispersed. But that is a comparably small area, and I do not buy that it would contaminate the entire ocean. The starfish have had trouble off the coast for years now, even before Fukushima ever happened and it takes more time for the ocean currents from Japan to even hit the west coast than the current starfish die off can support, this die off started happening too soon for that. True, the water should be arriving at the coast right around now, but this starfish die off has been ongoing for two years.

Oceanographers are saying it is a virus and not Fukushima doing this. So are they all bought out by the Israeli Mossad too? Did Israel go into damage control mode and pay all of the oceanographers to shut up? Oh, I get it, TEPCO PAID THEM ALL OFF INSTEAD.

If anyone believes the west coast is frying from Fukushima while the oceanographers say nada, I would say it is time for the thinking cap. If ENE and Infowars can say the ocean is destroyed with a web site, the oceanographers can say so as well. No one is shutting anyone up over this. Why are the oceanographers saying it is not Fuku then? How did the Pacific ocean currents carry Fuku fallout to the Atlantic to kill the starfish there as well?

And about the latest propaganda row over how the workers are treated at Fukushima, blame it on Israel. Find out who is running those subcontractor companies. I bet a dime to a dollar they are all Mossad fronts, issuing death threats against workers to NOT talk about how it could not possibly have been hydrogen gas that destroyed the place. If any are smart enough to figure out what really went on there, it is shut up or die, straight from the mouth of the Mossad. COUNT ON IT.
